

Sinclair's airing of "Stolen Honor" is a misuse of public airways for private gain. Sinclair has business reasons for preferring Bush over Kerry, but they should not be allowed to sway the public's opinion. The people are the ones who are supposed to decide the election, not the corporations. "Stolen Honor" will have an impact on public opinion if it is aired, because people are affected by the material they see on the airwaves. Candidates are supposed to receive equal time on networks, so "Stolen Honor" should either be canceled, or it should be complimented with a Pro-Kerry (or anti-Bush) movie.
